

URGE DRIVER EDUCATION AND RIGID ENFORCEMENT OF TRAFFIC LAWS TO HALT DEATHS ON HIGHWAYS IN COUNTY; PERMANENT BUCKS COUNTY SAFETY COUNCIL TO BE SET UP

Preliminary Figures Indicate That This Year Will See 50% Increase in Traffic Accidents; Fatalities for First Seven Months is 22 Compared With only 14 for Same Period Last Year; Excess Deaths Among Pedestrians and Children; Concentration Along Route 13.

(SPECIAL TO COURIER)

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 11—Spurred by a soaring accident rate, members of a Bucks County Accident Prevention Conference here yesterday called upon the Bucks County Commissioners and the Automobile Club of Philadelphia—AAA, sponsors of the conference, to establish a permanent Bucks County Safety Council.

This organization would set up an office and staff for a two-pronged attack on the problems of highway safety by, first, driver education, and second, rigid enforcement of traffic laws.

Preliminary figures indicate that this year will see an increase of more than 50% in traffic accidents in Bucks county. Fatalities for the first seven months now stand at 22, compared with only 14 for the same period last year.

Even more alarming are the figures on deaths among pedestrians and children. Virtually all of the excess deaths for the seven-month period are pedestrians, in rural areas—reflecting the flood of new traffic pouring over country roads to and from various expanding industrial centers.

Maps prominently displayed at the safety conference showed the incidence of traffic accidents. Much the greatest concentration of them is in the Bristol area along Route 13.

Next, heaviest is along Lincoln Highway and its feeders. Still another concentration is at Buckingham, and thence to New Hope, reflecting the immense increase in traffic due to the opening of the new Turnpike gateway at King of Prussia. Bethlehem and Easton pikes also have many accidents.

Yesterday morning's sessions were held in the Swartzlander Community Building. They were called to gether by Frank E. Ballantyne, manager of the Philadelphia Automobile Club, and Simon K. Moyer, president of the Bucks County Commissioners, representing the two sponsors of the sessions. More than a hundred borough, township, county, school and other officials, as well as representative citizens, coming from all parts of the county, were present.

The purpose of the conference was set forth by James T. Haviland, president of the automobile club, who told how far Bucks county's highway safety picture had worsened during the past year.

"The AAA watches highway deaths closely," he said. "For many years Bucks county conditions have been satisfactory. But now there is a sharp increase."

By Staff Reporter
FAIRLESS HILLS, Oct. 11—A gift of a $100 U. S. defense bond to the first girl and boy born in Fairless Hills has been announced by John W. Galbreath, president of Danherst Corporation.

"The award is intended only as a token of the value future citizens of Fairless Hills will place upon community membership," according to Galbreath, who adds: "We are very proud of this community being built here, and of the people who are helping us make it a fine place to live. Boys and girls fortunate enough to grow up in Fairless Hills will have advantages which $100 couldn't begin to buy!"

All that is necessary to win a $100 bond is to be "the first native-born citizen of this community," according to the announcement.

The site of the new factory and offices is on a 10-acre plot. The plant, constructed by the Barnes Construction Co., has 17,000 square feet of production area in a one-story structure. Ample parking space is provided for employees.

Attending from the Bucks County Unit were Dr. E. Clifford Laudenslager, vice president, and Mrs. Eugene F. Krammes, Warrington, member of the board of directors, and Miss Barbara Scofield, Executive secretary, Doylestown.

The overall picture of what is being done in Pennsylvania by the American Cancer Society, through its county units, is one of increasing service to the public, with special emphasis on education, since cancer is said to be one of the most curable of all diseases, if detected and treated early.

The Bucks County Unit expects to make every effort to extend its educational program and to continue those services now being offered through its detection center, information office and dressing groups.

Room mothers for the new Edgely school were introduced by Mrs. Nina Swangler, head teacher of the new school.

Candidates for school board director for the November election were invited, however only two were in attendance—Mrs. John P. Fullam, Landreth Manor and Mr. Taylor, Croydon.

Program chairman for November, Mrs. Adolph Ancker, announced she has invited Mrs. L. J. Hutton, Edgely, to be the speaker at the November meeting.

NO LONGER A JOKE!

One of the old standbys of the comic artist and the vaudeville and radio comedians appears about to go by the board. Once it was the backseat driver who was good for a sure-fire laugh, later the woman who had graduated to the seat behind the automobile wheel.

Even the resourceful publisher of The Wall Street Journal has recently confessed a fondness for the old one about the boy in the family out for a Sunday drive, pleading with his father to "let Mamma drive, it's more exciting."

Now, at long last, the woman driver has found a champion. He is the director of traffic engineering and safety of the Automobile Club of New York, and he avows that the woman at the wheel has been much maligned. As a rule, he finds, she is apt, inherently cautious and quick of reaction.

There are, of course, women, just as there are men, who will never make good drivers. But this expert observer finds the picture overdrawn which has the woman driver signaling for a turn in one direction and promptly taking the other. What is referred to as a woman's prerogative is sometimes exercised by men drivers as well. "Carefulness, especially where children are concerned, is ingrained in women."

THEY SLEPT 1,000 YEARS

There is a new eye for men to use today. It is comparable to the telescope that enables man to see out into space, or the microscope that helps him explore the world of the smallest. This newly-discovered eye is called carbon 14, a variant of ordinary carbon with its atomic weight of 12. Carbon 14 enables man to look back in time to see how old an ancient organic substance is.

The theory about carbon 14 is that it is formed by cosmic rays in the bodies of all living organisms. This radioactive carbon starts to disappear when the organism dies. The rate of disappearance being constant, the scientist has his instrument ready to use on some bit of animal or vegetable relic.

Already carbon 14 has opened some pages of pre-history. On the West Coast some bones of Indians are dating their owners to the time, perhaps, when a land bridge from Asia permitted an eastward migration. In time the timetable of the migration of man across the continent to the Atlantic may be learned.

Carbon 14 measured, it was known, the age of dead things. Now comes the well-authenticated word that it can tell the age of something not dead but only asleep for a long, long time.

At the University of Chicago, where the atomic bomb was worked out a decade ago, Dr. Willard F. Libby received last spring a batch of lotus seeds from a Manchurian peat deposit. Another batch of the same lot was planted in a Washington, D. C., greenhouse.

The months pass. The age of the seeds, Dr. Libby finds, is approximately 1,000 years. In Washington, at the Kenilworth Aquatic Gardens, Anacostia Park, two lotus seeds have sprouted.

Urge Driver Education To Halt Deaths in County

an alarming increase. The number of deaths is running much higher than in any of your adjoining counties except Philadelphia.

"What is still more disturbing is that, contrary to the general trends, pedestrian deaths are climbing. In this county you have a bulging new community which is producing new traffic and death hazards. These conditions are just getting under way, and our club believes that the citizens of this area ought to urge their authorities to plan carefully so that new expansions are a source of happiness—not of sudden death."

An analysis of the background causes of automobile fatalities, and particularly those of pedestrians, was presented by Claude R. McCammett, traffic engineer of the AAA at its Washington headquarters.

"Many of us go around worrying about the effect of past and future wars, and never thinking about how to walk and drive to escape the traffic hazards which are killing people far faster than wars do," he said.

"The big problem of traffic safety is the problem of controlling the 5 to 10 per cent of the drivers who cause the great majority of the accidents. This calls for stricter law enforcement. It also calls for education, not only of the drivers, but of pedestrians in general and especially of children.

"Last year in Pennsylvania more than 4,000 children were hurt, and some of them killed, in traffic accidents. We give wonderful protection to these children on the way to and from school. But most of these accidents happen after school hours. They happen when the children are no longer the responsibility of the schools and the buses, but of their own parents.

"Playing children, and children on bicycles, are more and more of a problem. The state badly needs some sort of new legislation to cope with this as a police matter, and we need also some means of interesting mothers in accident prevention."

Following this address there was held a panel discussion on the various problems of law enforcement. This was presided over by Robert N. Hoffman, safety director of the automobile club. Those participating were Raymond K. Olsen, of the Governor's Highway Safety Advisory Committee; B. Frank Brunner, justice of the peace, Doylestown; Sgt. Adrian J. McCarr, of the State Police; and Clarence R. Wemmer, president of the Bucks County Police Association.

Called upon to answer the question of what is the most serious phase of the traffic problem and what should be done about it, Sergeant McCarr said that speeding and other traffic violations leading to accidents could be curbed only by a greater concentration of police authorities, and that a Safety Council could do excellent educational work.

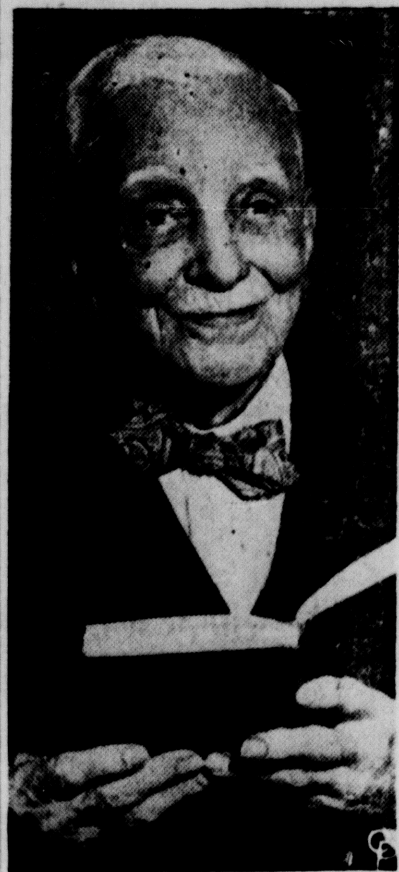

"The ultimate objective of both education and law-enforcement is to teach each and every one of us to abide by the laws," said Mr. Gillen. "Once that is done, there will be no problem at all."

Justice of the Peace Brunner declared that the minor judiciary has had no serious trouble with its part of the problem, and said that the big issue is how to get the consistent repeater in traffic violations off the highways.

Mr. Wemmer called for stricter laws covering juveniles, saying that the present regulations make it impossible for the police authorities to deal adequately with children caught in the act of traffic offenses. He also urged better screening of juveniles, so as to get a larger percentage of convictions at trials.

In the general question-answer part of the discussion, two topics attracted much discussion—first,

Easy Does It

AT THE AGE of 35, Dr. George C. Lippincott, of Salem, N. J., was retired from the Navy because of a heart condition. Celebrating his 101st birthday at his home, Dr. Lippincott wrote for himself a prescription for longevity. It was simply: "Don't worry and take it easy." He's thrived on it. (International) what to do about the "hot-rods," and second, whether or not it would be worth while for the proposed Safety Council to handpick several dozen private citizens to serve as "vigilantes" on the highways, and make reports on traffic violations missed by the police.

With regard to the first, the consensus seems to be that the seat of the problem of "souped-up" cars speeding on the highways lies with the parents of the offenders. As to the volunteers corps of "observers" noting down traffic violations and reporting them to the proper authorities, it was suggested that this might have value, but would need the closest kind of supervision and control to prevent abuses which would bring it into disrepute.

The resolution endorsing the plan of a Bucks County Safety Council was introduced by John T. Mladjen, of Langhorne, director of the Citizens' Council for Bucks County planning. It was adopted unanimously.

The rapid growth and excellent results of driver-training courses in schools and colleges was described by Professor Amos E. Neyhart, of Penn State. He reported that school-trained drivers were average less than half as many accidents as those who were self-taught, learned from their parents, or "picked it up" from other sources.

As to the general problem in this area, he said: "Accidents aren't really the result of speeding, or of bad road conditions, or anything of that sort. Eighty-five percent of all traffic troubles are due to human failure. 'You'll get results here in Bucks County when you want it bad enough. Your difficulty is that you haven't been wanting it hard enough. No one from Harrisburg and no one from Washington is going to help you."

ing to come here and "solve this problem for you. You've got to do it for yourselves, and you will do it when you want to bad enough."

Following the morning session the delegates were guests of the AAA at a luncheon in the Doylestown Inn. Principal speaker at this luncheon was Dana Griswell, supervisor of Employee Services, Fairless Works, near Morrisville, whose address was reported in these columns yesterday.

A short talk was given also by George Duval, president, of the Citizens Council for Bucks County Planning.

The traffic difficulties faced by the Lower Bucks County area, he said, traced to three strong national trends which were resulting in revolutionary changes and expansion in this territory.

One of these, he said, was the insistence of the national government that industrial plans be dispersed as much as possible for safety in time of war. Another was the eagerness of industrial establishments to move into areas near pools of labor. And Third was the desire of working people to live in suburban areas rather than in congested cities.

Today's Quiet Moment

The Rev. Edward G. Yeomans
Pastor, Bristol Presbyterian Church

O Lord our Lord, how excellent is Thy holy Name; Thou whose Name alone is to be exalted; Thou whose glory and majesty fill the heavens and cover the whole face of the earth; We would praise Thee for what Thou art in Thyself and we come before Thee with grateful and thankful hearts for what Thou hast wrought in our behalf. May it be Thy sovereign will to be the great and healing physician to those who are in beds of pain and of sickness. Comfort those who are in sorrow. Enlighten the minds of those who are in the darkness of fear and doubt. Quicken the footsteps of those who are careless and indifferent. Forgive us all for the many times wherein we have grieved Thee with our sins and defied Thee with our disobedience. We plead guilty before Thee for we know that all have sinned and come short of the glory of God. Have mercy upon us, O God, according to Thy loving kindness, in Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

Convention "Twins" Off On Another Trip

Continued from Page One have been attending such sessions ever since the first convention in Philadelphia in 1926. They have travelled as far as San Francisco, Cal.; Detroit, Mich.; Boston, Mass.; New York, N. Y., and so on.

The two men have a lot more in common than just going to conventions together. Both live on the same street—North Delmor avenue. Both are employed at the Vulcanized Rubber and Plastics Company and both are charter members of Sanford-Diletto Post, American Legion, and of the Bucks County Voltaire, 40 'n' 8.

Where did they serve during World War I? Yes, that's right—in France.

To Air TV Case

ASSISTANT Attorney General in charge of anti-trust activities, H. Graham Morison has instituted suit in Washington against the National Football League for alleged violation of Federal anti-trust laws. Morison said the organization was singled out because its television and radio control is "the worst in respect to having the greatest restrictions" of any major sports activity. ## Four Men Injured; Sedan is Wrecked

Philadelphia, laceration of scalp; Wesley Brown, W. Jefferson street, Philadelphia, a passenger, bruised left arm; Alfred Mitchell, N. 15th street, Philadelphia, a passenger, uninjured.

The vehicle, according to police report by Officers Jones and Friedrich, of Langhorne State Police barracks, was totally damaged.

Bristol Woman Heads Committee

Weed reported that House Bill 772 which is held up in committee, has been copied by Ohio and was already a law in that state. This bill provides for urgently needed day care training centers for the uneducatable. Experience has proven that many children considered uneducatable are trainable and can become very useful citizens. They have been able to take their place in industry as monotonous jobs do not bore or tire them and they take great pride in their work.

Complete Plans for A Class-Sponsored Lunch

EMILIE, Oct. 11 — Final plans were made for the "Luncheon is Served" program to be given Oct. 29th by the Tip-Toppers Sunday School class of Emilie Methodist School during a meeting of the class held last night at the home of Mrs. Wayne Wicand, Fallsington.

In the absence of the president, the vice-president, Mrs. Randall Prout, presided. The Lord's prayer was repeated by the group, followed by devotions led by Mrs. Frank Hibbs who chose as her topic, "Seven Things God Hates," taken from Proverbs 6:17-19.

Secretary and treasurer reports were heard and approved. Cards had been sent two sick residents.

Mrs. James Harris, Jr., Landreth Manor, and Mrs. Donald MacSherry, Fallsington, will act as committee in charge of the "Luncheon is Served." The class will sponsor home baked goods and gifts for sale that day.

The "white elephant" sent by

Mrs. Howard Bintliff, Edgely, was received by Mrs. James Harris, Jr. Mrs. Warren Bruce will conduct the devotional period at the November meeting at the home of Mrs. Warren Baker.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

TWO SCOUTS TO BE MADE EAGLE SCOUTS

Recommended for Advancement
By Scout Advancement Committee

JUDGE KELLER PRESIDE

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 11—Rodney Henry, of Quakertown Troop No. 4, and Donald Riegle, of Riegelsville Troop No. 15, Explorers of the Bucks County Council, Boy Scouts of America, were recommended for approval by the Advancement Committee, in session as an Eagle Board of Review, for advancement to the rank of Eagle Scout, the highest rank in Scouting.

As Scouts advance in the ranks in Scouting they pass tests that lead them to becoming Second Class, First Class, Star, Life, or Eagle Scouts. When a boy is 14 years of age, he becomes an Explorer Scout rather than a Boy Scout. He may then continue his advancement to Eagle Rank or work for Explorer ranks in the Explorer program, which may be the Silver Award, the Air Explorer Ace, or the Sea Explorer Quartermaster. Honorable Hiram H. Keller, Chairman of the Advancement Committee, presided at the Board of Review, and the Scout Executive,

Raymond W. Hoxworth, served as secretary. Honorable Edward Biesler presided at the advancement review for Rodney Henry, while Judge Keller served as the chairman of the Review group for Donald Riegle.

The other members of the Board of Review in attendance were: Lower Bucks District, Frank Weik, C. J. Kennedy, James Pettit; Delaware Valley District, Fred G. Maag; West Bucks District, Samuel R. Russell; Lenape District, Rev. M. M. Hostetter; Perkiomen district, Clayton Pritchard; and Tohickon district, Russell M. Weierbach.

FLYING NURSE

BOSTON. — (INS) — A Boston nurse claims that one of the best ways for a young woman to prepare for a nursing career is to take up flying. Miss Bernice Laddin, 25, who has had a pilot's license since graduating from high school explains: "Out there in the great blue yonder you need to be calm, cool and collected. Your life may depend on your good judgment in an emergency. These are, it seems to me, qualifications that make a good nurse, too."

PBX, referring to small switchboards, means Private Branch Exchange.
